

Race, Racism, and Resistance in Latin America Lecture Series

Art and Empowerment: Kadiwéu Women's Pottery

The Kadiweu are an indigenous people currently living between the Paraguay River and the Bodoquena Mountains in Mato Grosso do Sul, Brazil. Viviane Luiza Silva's talk will analyze Kadiweu pottery production in relation to the cultural, environmental, political, and economic contexts of Kadiwéu women's labor.

Viviane Luiza Silva is a researcher at the Foundation for Support and Development of Education, Science, and Technology, Mato Grosso do Sul (FUNDECT/MS). She is a Ph.D. Candidate in Anthropology at the University of Manitoba.

Wednesday, March 24, 4:30p.m. PST

Join us on Zoom:

<https://SDSU.zoom.us/j/89182643561>

