CALL FOR PAPERS: HISTORIC REBELS OF THE MEXICAN IMAGINATION, DUE DECEMBER 1, 2016
This special edition of the Hispanic Journal intends to study the figure of the rebel or revolutionary in the Mexican imagination, a historical character that has existed from pre-Colombian times until today. One of the fundamental premises for these essays will be the exploration of how these rebels demonstrate their transgressive potential to question structures of racial, ethnic, socioeconomic and sexual inequality that are present in Mexican history and society.

Those interested should write a proposal about 500 words long and explain the figure in question with a critical focus. This proposal should explain the figure chosen and contain initial analysis of the topic, as well as a bibliography of the essential secondary sources of the project. The proposal can be written in Spanish or English.

Proposal are due December 1, 2016 and if accepted will appear in the May 1, 2017 issue. More information and the proposal format can be found at the Hispanic Journal website http://www.chss.iup.edu/spanish/hj/

Proposals can be sent to:

Vicente Gomis-Izquierdo, editor (hispanic-journal@iup.edu)

Amy Robinson, editora invitada (arobins@bgsu.edu)

Sofía Ruiz-Alfaro, editora invitada (sofia.ruiz-alfaro@fandm.edu)

LACS GRADUATE STUDENT CONFERENCE: CALL FOR SUBMISSIONS, DUE DECEMBER 15, 2016

Conference Theme: Creative Revolution(s): Combating Hatred with Justice Across the Americas

All around us we are plagued by episodes of extreme violence and insane bigotry that are very disheartening. We bear witness to attacks on marginalized identities in different contexts and circumstances that compel us to face our demons and confront the structural injustices that fuel such attacks. For this conference we hope to develop dialogue(s) for understanding and tackling violence across the Americas from anti-Haitian sentiment in the Dominican Republic, to the disappearance of students at Ayotzinapa, to attacks on Latinx immigrants in the U.S., and anything in between.

Some questions or issues we hope to touch upon in these dialogues include but is not limited to:

-What types of logics and sentiments are at the core of modern bigotry and hatred?
-What strategies have people developed to cope with and/or combat the violence of structural inequalities?
-What are the institutions and power systems propagating discourses of exclusion and hatred?
-How do struggles against marginalization in Latin America and the Caribbean inform and support similar struggles in the United States and vice versa?
-How does a historical analysis of colonialism, imperialism, and neoliberalism assist in challenging those very processes?
-How can the arts or more creative academic endeavors contribute to advancing ideals of inclusion and decolonization?

We invite all types of presentation formats including: panels, paper presentations, workshops, plenary, think tanks, posters, performances, art exhibitions, and other formats. Please email 250-500 word abstract to lacsgradstudents@gmail.com. Please refer to our website lacsgradstudents.wordpress.com for more info. Conference Submissions Deadline: December 15, 2016

Conference will be held by:
Department of Latin American, Caribbean, and U.S. Latino Studies at University at Albany-SUNY, March 3-4, 2017

Additional info can be found here: cfp-lacs-conference-2017
THE 10TH ANNUAL STUDENT RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM WILL BE ACCEPTING SUBMISSIONS UNTIL JANUARY 25, 2017

SDSU's 10th annual Student Research Symposium (SRS) will be held on Friday, March 3 and Saturday, March 4, 2017 at the Aztec Student Union. The SRS celebrates the achievements of SDSU's students in research, scholarship and creative activity. The SRS is open to undergraduate, master's and doctoral students. There are poster sessions, ten-minute oral presentations, creative arts, theatre and musical performances. Your project does not have to be complete -- it can be work in progress. Students from every college and every major can participate! Taking part in a conference like this looks great on your c.v.

Ten Presidential Awards ($500) will be made to recognize outstanding achievement in original scholarship. These graduate and undergraduate students will go on to represent SDSU at the CSU Student Research Competition in May, 2017. Several cash awards will be given in recognition of outstanding presentations or performance during SRS 2017.

Registration opens October 26, 2016, and ends at midnight, January 25, 2017. All SDSU students — including those who graduated after Spring 2016—are encouraged to submit an application

Scholarships and Funding Opportunities
THE WILLIAM MUNDT SCHOLARSHIP FOR INTERNATIONAL INTERNSHIPS IN PEACE AND SECURITY DUE DATE HAS BEEN EXTENDED TO NOVEMBER 10, 2016

We have just extended the deadline for the William R. Mundt Scholarship for International Internships in Peace & Security to Thursday, November 10. If you have students planning to do Spring or Summer internships abroad related to social, economic, educational or environmental justice, please let them know about this scholarship, which may cover up to the full cost of the internship experience!

Students from all majors and all class levels are eligible to apply. Recipients must participate in an academically-related international internship of at least two months which addresses social welfare, health, educational, cultural or environmental problems, or social and economic inequalities. Award amounts will be determined by the committee, though the intent is to cover nearly the full cost of the international internship for 6 awardees. Full details, eligibility requirements, and applications can be found: Here

Students also can access the posting by visiting the Scholarship Search site at www.sdsu.edu/scholarshipsearch and requesting a list of scholarships available to “All Majors.”

ALFRED J. HANNA DISTINGUISHED POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP IN LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES AND CARIBBEAN STUDIES

The Latin American and Caribbean Studies program at Rollins College is seeking an Alfred J. Hanna Distinguished Postdoctoral Fellowship in Latin American and Caribbean Studies for a two-year fellowship. Eligible scholars are those who have earned a doctorate within the last three (3) years in any academic discipline and with a geographical focus on Latin America and/or the Caribbean. Applicants must have PhD in hand by June 1, 2017.

The two-year experience is expected to prepare the fellow for a position at a liberal arts college. The successful candidate will demonstrate an interest in learning about the rewards and challenges of a career at a liberal arts institution and will be an interdisciplinary teacher/scholar who will integrate Latin American studies into our liberal arts curriculum while pursuing a significant research agenda in his or her field.
