CLAS-CAL RESEARCH TRAVEL GRANT APPLICATION DUE MARCH 1, 2016

The Center for Latin American Studies (CLAS) at SDSU is proud to announce its fourth application cycle for the "CLAS-CAL Research Travel Grants for Latin America" for preliminary research for graduate students seeking to work in Latin America. The first three years of this grant were proudly offered in collaboration with the Tinker Foundation. This fourth year of travel funds are funded by SDSU's Center for Latin American Studies and the College of Arts and Letters (CAL), but will follow the same application and administration procedures as the previous three years of Tinker Foundation collaboration. The application is available on the CLAS website at http://latinamericanstudies.sdsu.edu/funding/index.html.

SDSU'S CENTER FOR LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES IS OFFERING CROSS-BORDER CLASSES FOR FALL 2016: TAKE A CLASS IN TIJUANA DURING THE REGULAR SEMESTER!

El Colegio de la Frontera Norte (COLEF) is located in Tijuana, approximately 45 minutes from SDSU and about 20 minutes from the San Ysidro border crossing. COLEF is a prestigious Mexican research institute, with graduate programs in Economics, Urban Development, and a handful of other social sciences.

It is now possible for SDSU graduate students of ANY department to take classes at COLEF under the pilot program administered by the Center for Latin American Studies. No extra tuition fees are required, but interested students should consult their graduate adviser for additional information about procedures. Spanish fluency is required.
No extra tuition cost!
Take a 3 unit equivalent course for the Fall semester.
Up to two courses may be taken at COLEF per semester.
COLEF Provides transportation from border to campus and back on class day.
For more information on how to apply, please contact Alana Rodriguez at alana.rodriguez@mail.sdsu.edu

40TH ANNUAL CONFERENCE OF THE LUSO-AMERICAN EDUCATION FOUNDATION, MARCH 11-13, 2016

This event takes place on the SDSU campus and in other areas of our city, with scholarly and community-based presentations. We will have close to 50 speakers, between SDSU students and faculty, and multiple guests from the USA and abroad. They will present on Portuguese language, foreign language learning and technology, the Luso-Brazilian and the Luso-American experiences, but also other social fields, such as entrepreneurship and security and conflict resolution. We will also be honoured by the presence of a number of dignitaries, namely the Portuguese Ambassador in the USA.

All events are free, but for a Friday evening reception at the Cabrillo National Monument, and the Saturday Banquet, at the Portuguese Hall.

You can find here the full program, which will continue being updated as we get closer to the date.

The event is organised by the Portuguese Program, at Spanish and Portuguese, with campus co-sponsorships of the LARC, J. Keith Behner and Catherine M. Stiefel Program on Brazil, the Library and Information Access, and a number of outside sponsors.

SDSU STUDENT RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM, MARCH 4-5, 2016

The Student Research Symposium is a two-day event recognizing the outstanding scholarly accomplishments of SDSU students.

The SRS provides a public forum where SDSU students present their research, scholarship or creative activities. All SDSU students—including those who graduated after Spring 2015—are encouraged to submit an application to present either preliminary or completed results from their original research or creative activity. Presentations, whether oral, poster, exhibit or performance, are organized by academic disciplines with divisions for undergraduate, master's and doctoral students.

Presidential Awards ($500) will be made to recognize outstanding achievement in original scholarship. These graduate and undergraduate students will go on to represent SDSU at the CSU Student Research Competition in May 2016. In total over 50 cash awards will be given in recognition of outstanding presentations or performance during SRS 2016. SRS participants should plan to attend the reception and award ceremony on Saturday, March 5, 2016.

The Center for Latin American Studies will host a special SRS panel for the 2015 Tinker Awardees to present their preliminary research findings on Saturday, March 5 at 9:00am. Join us to see the amazing research projects our students have been working on!

"PRODUCTION/DESTRUCTION: LATIN AMERICAN ENVIRONMENTS": A TWO DAY WORKSHOP AT UCSB, APRIL 8-9, 2016. ABSTRACTS DUE MARCH 1, 2016

This two-day workshop is organized by UC Santa Barbara's Latin American and Iberian Studies program.

Environmental destruction seems ever-present in Latin America today. At the same time, this process of destruction produces new environments. Agricultural fields and livestock pasture are pushing ever-further into the forest. Mining supplies energy and materials, but annihilates land cover and water sources and generates toxic wastes. Urban development creates habitat for some animals – especially humans – while destroying the habitat of others. The certainty of climate change produced by humans has prompted writers to portray coming changes of apocalyptic proportions. The twin notions of production and destruction - so often paired in economic thinking - offer a suggestive lens through which to examine Latin American environments from perspectives across the social sciences and humanities. When does destruction enable production, and in what ways? How are past, present and expected destructions impacting livelihoods and environmental debates? What kinds of analytical innovations does a focus on production/destruction allow? These are just some of the questions that this workshop will explore with attention to the specificities of Latin American people.
The workshop keynote address will be given by Gaston Gordillo, author of Rubble: the Afterlife of Destruction (Duke, 2014). Dr. Gordillo is Professor of Anthropology at the University of British Columbia.

We invite contributions to participate in this workshop. Send your paper abstract (250 words) to Javiera Barandiaran (jba@global.ucsb.edu) or Casey Walsh (walsh@anth.ucsb.edu) by March 1st. Selected participants will be expected to present a paper at the workshop and consider participating in a special issue on this topic.

Dates: Friday April 8, 2016-Saturday April 9, 2016
Where: McCune Conference Room on the UC Santa Barbara campus

GEEO TEACHER TRAVEL PROGRAMS

Travel the world, earn professional development credit, and bring global understanding into your classroom!

Founded in 2007, Global Exploration for Educators Organization (GEEO) is a 501c3 non-profit organization that has sent over 1300 teachers abroad on adventurous travel programs. LANGUAGE SUMMER PROGRAMS IN OAXACA, MEXICO

The Center for Latin American Studies (CLAS) at San Diego State University offers a six week summer intensive language immersion program in Mixtec or Zapotec in Oaxaca, Mexico. We offer intensive language courses that are perfect for beginners, intermediate, and advanced speakers. Both, the Zapotec and Mixtec, programs are eligible for Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) fellowships.

MIXTEC PROGRAM (4 units): Language instruction is provided by native Mixtec speakers, Juan Julian Caballero of the Centro de Investigaciones y Estudios Superiores en Antropologia Social (CIESAS), and Marcos Cruz Bautista from Mexico’s Universidad Pedagogica Nacional (UPN), Tlaxiaco Campus. The course is taught in Spanish and offers 140 hours of instruction, plus weekend field-trips over a six-week period. The program is five hours per day, four days per week, of intense classroom instruction. The program cost also covers weekend trips to Mixtec communities and other cultural locations. Graduates and Undergraduates are welcome to apply. An understanding of Spanish is required to participate.

ZAPOTEC PROGRAM (4 units): This intensive program is taught by native Isthmus Zapotec speaker and linguist, Tomás Villalobos Aquino, through the Casa de la Cultura in Juchitán. Professor Villalobos Aquino also coordinates the program along with Dr. Ramona Perez. The course is taught in Spanish, and offers 140 hours of class instruction plus weekend fieldtrips over a six-week period. Participants will experience a full immersion in Zapotec culture and language through homestays with Zapotec speaking families. Graduates and Undergraduates are welcome to apply. An understanding of Spanish is required to participate.

PROGRAM COST: Approximately $4,500. It includes all language instruction, class field-trips, and 4 units of language credit from SDSU. The Cost does not cover travel, food, or housing.

DATES: June 20 - July 28, 2016

APPLICATION DEADLINE: March 15th, 2016

FUNDING OPPORTUNITIES: The Mixtec and Zapotec summer programs qualify for the Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) fellowship. These fellowships are awarded by various Universities through their Latin American Studies Centers. We encourage students to prepare ahead of time to apply for these competitive fellowships, which can cover up to 80% of the cost.

For more information please e-mail the Study Abroad Coordinator at mailto:classtdy@mail.sdsu.edu

SUMMER ETHNOGRAPHIC FIELD SCHOOL IN OAXACA, MEXICO (ANTHROPOLOGY 520)

It's back! The ethnographic field school in the valley of Oaxaca is once again being offered alongside an opportunity to learn in the Costa Chica Region of Oaxaca, Mexico. Oaxaca, one of the most beautiful areas in Mexico, is home to more than 16 different indigenous groups that comprise 48% of the total population. Their cultural and linguistic differences have resulted in one of the richest cuisines in the world. This year's project focuses on shifts in local cuisine and nutrition as a result of tourism, migration, and food security. You will learn qualitative research methods through direct employment of these methodologies in documenting these changes and the impact they have on the lives of local residents. Don't miss out on this opportunity to know firsthand the ruins of Monte Alban, the indigenous markets, and the mountains and valleys of Oaxaca or the Lagoons of Chacahua and the region of Costa Chica that extends from the coastal city of Puerto Escondido to the port city of Acapulco, in Guerrero. Come study with Dr. Ramona Perez in the valley or with Dr. Anthony Jerry in Chacuhua. Make your 2016 summer memorable by joining the most fun, intensive, and enriching ethnographic field school offered at SDSU! This program is open to Graduate Students and high-performing undergraduates of all majors. Spanish proficiency is desired!

PROGRAM COST: approximately $1,500 USD – Price includes 3 weeks lodging and all field school related ground transportation. (Price does not include round-trip airfare, food, health insurance, or SDSU tuition)
PROGRAM DATES: June 20-July 8, 2016

APPLICATION DEADLINE: March 15th, 2016

SDSU FACULTY-LED SUMMER STUDY ABROAD IN LORETO MEXICO, JUNE 12-23, 2016; APPLY BY MARCH 15, 2016

Sustainable Development and the Loreto Bay Marine National Park; Ecosystems Vulnerabilities and Quality of Life

Uncontrolled and unplanned exploitation of the resources, coupled with the deleterious impacts of global climate change, has destroyed parts of the natural system in the past and threatens to permanently degrade the ambiance of Loreto, Mexico, and the bay through haphazard urbanization. Students in this program will have an opportunity to directly examine ecological, social, and economic sustainability issues facing Loreto and develop solutions while working on a regional environmental sustainability assessment project, in collaboration with faculty and students from UABC Sur. View a student-made VIDEO about the program

Location

Loreto, the first capital of the Californias, has a rich historical tradition that has created a regional culture and society as well as a level of political engagement that is unusual in Baja California Sur and Mexico. This accounts for the strong sense of community and high levels of satisfaction with quality of life of Loreto residents. Loreto is also situated in an incredibly rich environment with great diversity of ecosystems, plants, and animals - both marine and terrestrial.

Course

The course format is seminar-based and intended for students in all SDSU Colleges. The course will be conducted as an international service learning project through which students will engage in hands-on, community-based interactions and conduct the assessment of Loreto Bay Marine National Park and surrounding regions as part of their study abroad experience in Loreto, Mexico.

All participants in the program are required to register in the following course, worth 3 units of SDSU resident credit upon completion of the course:

GEN S 480: Engaged Citizenship (3 units - GE Explorations, Social & Behavioral Sciences, fulfills Cultural Diversity requirement)
HINT for SDSU students: Log in to your WebPortal account and check your Degree Evaluation to see if the course fulfills your graduation requirements. Otherwise, meet with an academic advisor to discuss your options; click HERE for more information.

About the Instructor: This program will be led by Dr. Vinod Sasidharan, Associate Professor in Hospitality and Tourism Management. Learn more about Dr. Sasidharan.

Price: $2,223

Upcoming information sessions:

Dates: Tuesday March 1, 2016; Monday, March 7, 2016; Monday, March 14, 2016
Time: 12:00-1:00 pm
Where: PSFA 200

SDSU SUMMER STUDY ABROAD IN ECUADOR, JULY 7-25, 2016; APPLY BY MARCH 15, 2016

Program Snapshot

Spend three weeks in Ecuador and engage in enriching, hands-on community experiences in sustainability. Participants live with local families in the Amazon jungle, the Andes mountains, and the Galapagos Islands, and undertake life-changing service activities and coursework relating to cultural and ecological conservation and sustainable business development. Exposure to multidisciplinary approaches to sustainability, including health, economics, education, gender studies, ecology, politics, business, tourism, hospitality, and more.

Ecuador is one of the 17 megadiverse countries in the world and is among the safest, ecologically-pristine and culturally-vibrant countries in South America. Work and live with indigenous communities in: 1) heart of the Ecuadorian Amazon, one hour from the city of Tena near the city of Coca; 2) base of the Andes Mountains, close to the town of Cayambe and the city of Otavalo; and 3) outer archipelagos of the Galapagos Islands.

Courses

This program provides six units of SDSU resident credit. Students are required to enroll in any two of the following courses:

- GEN S 450: Sustainability and Global Citizenship (3 Units), satisfies General Education, Explorations, Humanities Requirement for SDSU students.
- RTM 404: Cross-Cultural Perspectives of Tourism (3 Units), satisfies General Education, Explorations, Social and Behavioral Sciences Cultural Diversity Requirement for SDSU students.
RTM 499: Special Study (3 units), provides sustainability-related academic opportunities oriented toward creating sustainable businesses, agencies, and institutions through the implementation of student-based, coordinated, practical and continuing community development programs focusing on: development of sustainable community products that build on unique natural, cultural, and human capital sustainability projects for communities to benefit directly from their assets and emerging global trends participants to experience and support unique community culture and environment.

SUMMER STUDY ABROAD IN NICARAGUA: FOOD SOVEREIGNTY AND AGROECOLOGY, JUNE 20, 2016 - JULY 1, 2016

While mainstream US media tends to focus on the poverty in Nicaragua, social movements and local community organizing in this Central American nation are alive and well. Nicaragua is the regional gathering place for La Via Campesina, a global movement made up of rural peoples, small farmers, and indigenous communities. This movement coined the term "food sovereignty" in resistance to the corporatization and industrialization of the food system. La Via Campesina sees agroecology, a form of low-input sustainable agriculture, as a pillar of building food sovereignty.

This delegation will include visits to peasant schools that provide political and technical training in agroecology, many of which are affiliated with the Asociación de Trabajadores del Campo, a member organization of La Vía Campesina. We will see agricultural cooperatives that sustain local communities and are addressing issues like gender equity and climate change. To understand the political context in which social movements in Nicaragua operate, including its revolutionary history and membership in ALBA, our delegation will also include visits with Nicaraguan officials and citizens.

This delegation is organized in partnership through the Via Campesina organizations of Nicaragua, the Friends of the Asociación de Trabajadores del Campo (ATC), and the Alliance for Global Justice.

Cost: $1250 plus airfare
Trip fee includes lodging, meals, in-country transport, translation, and staff coordination. Scholarships are available (please contact us for more information).

SCHOLARSHIP AVAILABLE FOR UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS COVERING HALF THE COST OF FIELD SCHOOL EXPERIENCE IN PERU, APPLY BY APRIL 22, 2016

The Field School Program in Peru provides students with the opportunity to carry out practical work in research programs led by some of the most prestigious faculty members and scholars within the different academic areas at PUCP. This context allows participants to have a long-lasting, rich and fruitful academic and cultural experience. Throughout its eleven years of existence, the Field School Program has received around 350 students, increasing the number of participants every year. The 2016 program offers 6 different courses.

Participating students will have the opportunity to live a unique and intensive field and research experience and have a direct approach to local people, with respect and openness to intercultural learning.

By going through each one of the stages required to carry out the field research processes in a systematic manner, at the end of the program, students will have expanded their knowledge of Peruvian history and culture, learned about the day-to-day activities of local inhabitants, improved their ability to analyze social aspects and contributed to the satisfaction of needs by applying theoretical concepts to local problems. The experience gained in this course could be the basis for the development of future research topics at their universities.

The Field School Program in Peru is offering two scholarships for the total amount of half the price of the course. Students awarded with this benefit would have to pay US$ 1,500.00 – instead of US$ 3,000.00 – for the period of instruction (lectures, accommodation and transportation included). Interested students just have to submit an essay on their motivations to study in Peru. You can see the scholarship guidelines in the following link http://fieldschool.pucp.edu.pe/scholarships/

MEET COLOMBIAN COMMUNITIES RESISTING REPRESSION AS THEY STRUGGLE TO SAVE THE RAINFOREST AND FAMILY FARMS WITH WITNESS FOR PEACE, JULY 20-30, 2016

Many of the civilians murdered by Colombia’s armed forces and paramilitaries are family farmers. While claiming to fight narcotics and guerrillas, the Colombian army and its paramilitary allies have driven subsistence farmers off their land to make way for agribusiness. The recently passed “free-trade” agreement (FTA) between Colombia and the United States is another step. The FTA gives wealthy investors increased power to take over those lands.
In the region near Panama, paramilitary death squads and the Colombian army’s 17th Brigade violently displaced thousands of people in 1996-1997, killing dozens. (The 17th Brigade was led by General Rito Alejo del Rio, trained at the U.S. Army School of the Americas.) Sustainable farms and forests were replaced by large cattle ranches and monocrop plantations, especially oil palm. Despite death threats, some displaced people have returned in a nonviolent effort to regain their stolen lands. While the government delays restoring the land, the returning communities are establishing a toe-hold by forming humanitarian zones. A humanitarian zone is a living area of a few acres surrounded by a barbed-wire fence. The community puts signs on the fence proclaiming that this is a civilian zone and nobody with a weapon is allowed. Because threats continue, these communities rely on international attention for their survival.

WHAT TO EXPECT ON THE WITNESS FOR PEACE DELEGATION:

Half the time, we will be in Bogota, where the climate is cool and comfortable. We will meet political analysts, human rights defenders, and government officials. The rest of the time, we will visit humanitarian zones in Uraba (the region near Panama). This trip can be physically challenging: Participants must be capable of hiking with their gear (food, water, sleeping equipment, etc.) two or three hours on a muddy (but relatively flat) trail and sometimes sitting in a cramped canoe. The climate is hot, humid, and mosquito infested. Lodgings are simple. But it’s worth it in order to meet with community members and learn about their lives and how they have created such courageous communities. (Witness for Peace is careful about security. Therefore, the possibility always exists that our exact destination will change.)

Cost: $1300. This delegation fee covers all set-up, preparation, meals, lodging, interpreters, and transportation within Colombia. The fee also covers extensive reading and activist tools both before and after the delegation. The fee does not cover airfare to and from Colombia. Applications are due by May 20, 2016 along with a nonrefundable deposit of $150. The total is due by June 20, 2016.

For more information about this delegation, please contact the delegation coordinator:

STUDY ABROAD WITH INTERNATIONAL STUDENT VOLUNTEERS

This summer, we have 4-week programs in 6 countries—Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, and Thailand.

During the first two weeks, our students do 80 hours of volunteer work in either Social Community Development—doing basic health care and pre-med projects, building schools and houses, and working on educational programs for children—or in Conservation—where they can work in rainforest regeneration or endangered species management with elephants, dolphins, cheetahs or sea turtles!
During the second two weeks, students will travel all throughout their host country, getting immersed into the culture and exploring its natural wonders. They will also get to do exciting adventure activities like white water rafting, zip lining, surfing, cave kayaking, going on wildlife safaris and WAY more!

This program is a wonderful way to get out of the classroom and have some hands-on educational experiences—throughout the 4 weeks, students will be learning all about the communities, ecosystems, and animals with which they are interacting! Furthermore, it gives students an opportunity to do something meaningful with their summer while exploring another culture and country.

The SDSU information meetings have passed but interested students can email David Mulqueen at david13ISV@gmail.com for more information.

Scholarship and Fellowship Opportunities

ASSOCIATED STUDENTS STUDY ABROAD SCHOLARSHIP! DUE TODAY, FEBRUARY 26 @ 3:00 pm!

The annual gift to support the Associated Students Study Abroad Scholarship was approved by San Diego State University students in the spring of 2008 as part of the Student Activity Fee Referendum. By approving the initiative, students are allowing a percentage of their student activity fee to be used to provide scholarships to San Diego State University students who are studying abroad. This generous decision, made by students for students, will ensure that San Diego State University continues to be a leader in study abroad opportunities.

SDSU students who have applied, or have been accepted, to participate in a study abroad program outside the United States are encouraged to apply for the Associated Students Study Abroad Scholarship. Students who will be conducting research outside the United States are eligible to receive the scholarship. Students who will be studying or conducting research in a U.S. territory also are eligible to apply. Application materials will be reviewed by a committee composed primarily of current SDSU students, with an Associated Students staff member serving as the scholarship committee chairperson.

Applications are accepted for the Associated Students Study Abroad Scholarship during two distinct application periods each year, once during the fall semester and once during the spring semester.

STUDENT LIFE AND LEADERSHIP AT SDSU HIRING MENTORS FOR SOPHOMORE STUDENTS

Commuter Programs at San Diego State University is looking to hire mentors to help SDSU sophomores excel academically and succeed during their second year on campus. Sophomore SURGE is a mentorship based program for SDSU students to inspire a strong second year on campus.

Student Life & Leadership is hiring mentors (SDSU juniors and seniors) who are well-rounded in their academic and professional lives, as well as involved on campus. This mentoring position would require you to attend training sessions that will prepare you for meetings with your mentee throughout the academic year (every other week). Also, you may be asked by your students for extra tutoring in the subjects RWS, Math, or Science.

Mentors will be compensated for their time at $10/hr. We are looking to hire students who can commit around 25 hours a month.
If you’re interested in this exciting opportunity to mentor in the SURGE program, please fill out the application. Hiring is on a rolling, as needed basis so there is no deadline. Feel free to contact sllmentor@mail.sdsu.edu if you have any questions about the position or the program. Hiring is on a rolling, as needed basis.
